

December 13, 1965.

Mr. Robert Dunfield,
Oak Island,
Chester,
Nova Scotia.

Dear Mr. Dunfield:

I have been intending to write you regarding your operations on Oak Island.

I have learned indirectly from various sources of your activities. My housekeeper met Mrs. Dunfield on one occasion. But I have been laid up with a severe attack of arthritis since the first week in October and have hardly dared to move out of the city because of the changes in the weather.

I had a talk on one occasion back in September with Mr. Daniel Blankenship but have had very little information since then. Most of the newspaper items are hard to understand. It would seem that you are following the chart on page 52 of my book and are approaching what I call the treasure chamber, and that the next few days or so will probably solve the mystery.

I should very much like to be present when that time comes but on account of my arthritis I cannot guarantee anything.

I very much enjoyed being on T.V. programme with you a few weeks ago and there is much interest and hopeful speculation about your exploration of the Island.

With best wishes for your continued successful operations and for the Festive Season.

Yours sincerely,

Reginald V. Harris.

RVH/a

